BY THE SAME AUTHOR.

Mental Development in the Child and the Race: Methods and Processes. Cloth, 8vo. Price $2.60 net.

"One's abiding impression of the book is very favorable. Its pages breathe something of the intimacy, the frankness, the personal charm of a clever investigator's note-book."—The Nation.

MR. DAVENPORT'S METHODS IN ELEMENTARY FORM.

DAVENPORT.

Outlines of Elementary Economics. By HERBERT J. DAVENPORT, author of "Outlines of Economic Theory." 12mo, cloth. Price 80 cents net.

This is not an adaptation for school purposes of Mr. Davenport's larger work, but in the main a new book, both in matter and arrangement. In method and doctrine it follows the outlines in some degree. The same attempt is made to lead the student to do his own thinking; and, in a sense, the method is inductive, although the text is almost mathematical in the logical development of theory. No attempt is made at descriptive economics, except so far as is necessary to give the pupil data for such reasoning as should readily be mastered by students who can grasp the abstract relations of algebra and trigonometry.

A NEW VOLUME OF GOOD SERIES.

ECONOMIC CLASSICS. Edited by W. J. ASHLEY, M.A., Professor of Economic History in Harvard University. New Volume.

Cournot (AUGUSTIN). Researches into the Mathematical Principles of the Theory of Wealth (1838). Translated by NATHANIEL T. BACON. With a Bibliography of Mathematical Economics by IRVING FISHER. 12mo, cloth. Price 75 cents net.

A COMPANION VOLUME TO COURNOT'S "RESEARCHES."

FISHER.

A brief Introduction to the Infinitesimal Calculus, designed especially for the non-mathematical reader of "Mathematical Economics." By IRVING FISHER, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Political Science, Yale University, author of "Mathematical Investigations in the Theory of Value and Prices," etc. 12mo, cloth. Price 75 cents net.

Since the appearance of Marshall's first volume, in 1890, students and teachers of economics have felt the lack of an Introduction to the Calculus, adapted in simplicity, brevity, and range of topics to their peculiar needs. Such a book Professor Fisher has supplied. It is in Globe 8vo and about 90 pages in length, including 40 pages of small print, most of which may be omitted if desired.

FIELDE.

A Political Primer of New York State and City (the City under the Greater New York Charter). By ADELE M. FIELDE, author of "A Corner of Cathay." With 14 Maps. 16mo. Price, cloth, 75 cents; paper, 50 cents.

A timely manual of instruction for the student of Political Science, as well as for the use of every citizen desiring to know more about the manner in which the vast machinery of the State and city government of New York is kept in motion. It is all the more interesting as it contains the new Laws and Regulations as to Voting in Greater New York, which come into effect for the first time this fall.

A COMPLETE OUTLINE OF THE MUNICIPAL FIELD.

WILCOX.

The Study of City Government. Outline of the Problems of Municipal Functions, Control, and Organization. By DELOS F. WILCOX, Ph.D. Cloth, crown 8vo. Price $1.50 net.

The author holds that the City Problem is the key to the immediate future in this country; and this is, for the first time, a systematic outline of the whole municipal field.
